

Elevating the voices of students, teachers and staff.

The Center for Effective Schools (CES) is partnering with Panorama Education to help Texas districts and schools hear from their stakeholders. CES has developed a comprehensive survey tool aligned with the Effective Schools Framework (ESF), allowing leaders to use the voices of the students, families and staff in their strategic planning.

A better way to use data to improve teaching and learning.

The Center for Effective Schools will support Texas schools in understanding and monitoring the needs of their stakeholders to build a more positive school climate, support teacher growth, and promote student achievement.

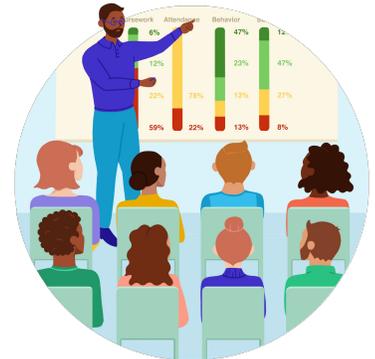

Who will take the survey?

Students in grades 3-12, families, teachers and staff members will participate in the survey. Once results are available, school leaders will receive support and resources to make sense of and act on the data in their schools.

What will the surveys measure?

The Effective Schools Framework survey will measure topics related to Essential Actions within the Levers of Strong School Leadership & Planning, Strategic Staffing, Positive School Culture, High Quality Instructional Materials, and Effective Instruction.

Which schools will participate in this initiative?

Schools who have applied for the Effective Schools Framework grant will participate in the survey as part of their Diagnostic Process. Schools may also opt-in to the Diagnostic for a fee, and participate in the survey.
